DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As per claim 1, lines 3-4, there is no recitation therein as to what “operation condition” is the claim referred to. Similarly, on lines 6-7, it is unclear as to what is associated with the “abnormal condition”. Finally, on lines 10-11, “a crank pulse signal” and “an abnormal condition” should be “said crank pulse signal” and “said abnormal condition” respectively in order to avoid the antecedent basis problem.

As per claim 2, “a startup disablement condition” should be “said startup disablement condition” to avoid the antecedent basis problem.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-2 as best understood in view of the aforementioned 112 deficiencies are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the admitted prior art on figures 2A-2B of the instant application.

As per claims 1-2, the admitted prior art disclosed on figures 2A-2B of the instant specification reads on the broadly claimed self- diagnosis indication system in which the signals from the sensors and a crank pulse signal are entered to an ECU and subsequently the ECU outputs a startup disablement indication signal to an indication means when an abnormal condition is detected at the time of startup.

4. The references are cited to show the related system(s). Applicant(s) should consider them carefully when responding to the current office action.
